Double Charge Collection can be used to deliver superior strength, durability, and long-lasting performance in interior and commercial spaces such as homes, offices, hotels, and high-traffic environments. These tiles are manufactured using advanced double charge technology, where the top layer is infused with special materials to enhance surface hardness and resistance. Double Charge tiles are ideal for floors and walls that require high durability while maintaining a refined and consistent appearance. They can be customized to suit various design themes or functional requirements in living areas, lobbies, corridors, and commercial spaces. Architects and designers can incorporate the Double Charge Collection into façades, interior partitions, and heavy-use areas to achieve a balance of aesthetics and performance. Retail and commercial spaces can also rely on double charge tiles for reliable, visually appealing surfaces that maintain their look over time, reinforcing quality and overall design value.
